

Reconnective Healing:
an introduction by

Why Reconnective Healing?

Reconnective Healing (RH) centers around wellbeing. It helps your body reset to its natural balance for optimal functioning. RH is very relaxing and a treat for body and soul. The deeper level benefit is a potentially life changing experience, including physical, emotional, or psychological healings from dis-ease. Among others, RH is known to make a difference to people suffering from cancer, addictions, MS, CFS, depression, arthritis, and epilepsy. The list of conditions RH has been successfully applied to is seemingly all inclusive.

What is it, and how does it work?

RH is a holistic, non-invasive approach to healing and wellbeing that offers benefits without risk in three sessions maximum. It works with the entire person on all levels psychological, emotional, physiological, or other. Nothing is added or taken away. No pills to take, no needles involved, no side-effects. It's as effortless as it gets. RH works by itself or in support of other treatments already in place.

This process is electromagnetic in nature. It uses the body's electromagnetic field (generated by your nervous system) and frequencies of energy, light and information of the universe. No two people have the same experience, and most feel something when interacting with these frequencies. This is experiential. Reading and hearing about it is good, yet does not replace a first-hand experience.

To make this more tangible: another word for light is electromagnetic radiation. This can be measured in energy and frequency: the properties of a photon, a particle of light. Photons interact with you every day. Just like light (photons) hits your skin and causes it to give you a tan, the RH frequencies interact with your body in similar fashion – they cause a biochemical chain reaction which results in healthy tissue. Exactly how the body takes a frequency and translates it into a healthy biology is unknown to date. We just know from countless healing stories and measuring this effect with medical equipment (e.g. MRI, EEG, EKG, skin conductivity) that this integration occurs.

Fun Facts:

- ⤴ taught in 20 countries each year
- ⤴ 100.000 trained people in 70 countries
- ⤴ presented to the United Nations and at medical conferences
- ⤴ written up in the NY Times and other major US publications
- ⤴ subject to ongoing research across various disciplines such as physics, biophysics & psychology
- ⤴ books: 'The Reconnection' by Dr. Eric Pearl, available in 36 languages (I'm lending it also) & 'Solomon speaks on reconnecting your life' by Dr. Eric Pearl & Frederick Ponzlov
